

Heavenly Father,

I come before You in the name of Jesus, acknowledging that You are sovereign over every season of my life. You are Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, and nothing that has touched my life has escaped Your awareness.

Even in this place of transition, where my identity feels unfamiliar and my roles have shifted, You remain constant.

Your Word declares that You are the same yesterday, today, and forever. Therefore, I anchor myself in Your unchanging nature. When everything around me feels uncertain, I declare that my life is secured in You.

Father, this season has brought loss, and with it, a reshaping of who I am. But I declare that I am not without identity. Your Word says that I have been called by name, that I belong to You, and that I am chosen, established, and kept by Your hand.

I renounce every lie that says I am lost, forgotten, or without purpose.

I declare that my identity is not defined by what I have lost, but by who You are and who You say I am.

Your Word says that my life is hidden with Christ in God. Therefore, I am secure, I am covered, and I am held, even in this unfamiliar place.

Father, I bring before You every weight, every expectation, and every responsibility that now rests upon me. You have said that You will uphold me with Your righteous right hand. So I declare that I am upheld, I am strengthened, and I am sustained by Your power.

Where I feel weak, Your strength is made perfect. Where I feel uncertain, Your wisdom leads me. Where I feel overwhelmed, Your peace guards my heart and mind.

I refuse the pressure to become what I am not yet ready to be. I receive Your grace for this moment.

Your Word says that You will instruct me and teach me in the way I should go. Therefore, I declare that I am led by Your Spirit. I do not walk in confusion. I do not move in fear. I move in divine guidance, one step at a time.

Father, even in this in-between place, I declare that I am not abandoned. I am not without direction. I am being formed, shaped, and prepared by Your hand.

You are working all things together for my good. This season is not wasted.

So I release the need to understand everything. I release the urgency to define what is still unfolding.

And I declare this truth over my life:

I am Yours.

I am known.

I am called.

I am being made whole.

Father, let Your presence settle over me. Let Your peace rule within me. Let Your Spirit guide me into what is next, in Your timing and in Your way.

I stand in faith, knowing that You who began a good work in me will carry it to completion.

In the mighty name of Jesus,
Amen.
